
CHRISTMAS decorations, on the streets, in stores and in homes and yards, have become an integral part of the Christmas season in every community.

We haven't checked it out but we imagine that the PG&E records show that there is a tremendous upsurge in wattage consumed from Thanksgiving to after New Year's Day.

The lighted decorations help emphasize the festive spirit that pervades the atmosphere and rubs off on the people at this time of year. Few are immune from the effects of the season.

It is also the time of year when business firms and professional people, as well as private citizens, have "open houses" and annual parties.

Parties often come so thick and fast that a person almost has to be on the run in order to take care of all the invitations.

And a person can only consume so many "tom and jerries".

WE LEARNED recently that some of the larger firms in the area have become wise to the problem that exists in finding the spot to hold their parties. Many of them have had their reservations for the choice locations for at least six months.

We heard of one outfit that reserved its spot a year ahead.

There are bound to be conflicts in dates. And there are just so many parties that a person can handle in one night.

But it is enjoyable.

It's a great time of year.

That is, if you are not too worn out from shopping and partying by the time Christmas arrives.

-0-

CAMPBELL'S Christmas street decorations on Campbell Ave. and Winchester are modest but attractive, especially when they are lighted. Incidentally, Harry Lind, of First Valley Bank, volunteered for the thankless task of collecting enough dough from the merchants in town to pay the maintenance costs of the street decorations. That's a tough job at its best. But Harry did very well. Maybe it pays to have a banker do such jobs. People are used to paying 'em.

Photos of the strands, unlighted and lighted, appear on this page. Black and white pictures don't do the decorations justice. They should be red and green.

SEVERAL OF THE strands, by the way, are close to traffic signals.

The green and red of the signals are right in tune with the decorations.

Christmas lights go on

Streets in the business district of Campbell took on a festive appearance (above) during the past week when the Christmas street decorations were put in place.

The warm glow of the lights acted as a reminder that the Christmas season was at hand... In case, that is, any one needed such a reminder.

As in the past years, the Chamber of Commerce undertook the decorating project with city personnel putting the strands in place.

At West Valley College

Class rooms to go on parking lot

West Valley College gained approval from the Planning Commission Monday night for the placement of 20 temporary (relocatable) classrooms for the campus. The buildings will be located on the south end of the college's parking lot on Latimer Ave., next to the post office, eliminating 104 parking spaces in that area.

The planning commissioners in granting the approval emphasized that the college should be a concerted attempt to get the students to use the college parking lots off Rincon Ave. instead of residential streets.

R. E. Arnold, representing the college, agreed that getting the students to use the Rincon lots so far had been less than successful. But he felt that with the elimination of 100 spaces at the Latimer lot, the students would almost have to use the Rincon area. The residential streets adjacent to the college, he admitted, probably couldn't stand any more cars. He said the college also planned steps to "educate" the students in the use of parking facilities.

Arnold explained that the growth of the college made it imperative that more classroom space be obtained.

The temporary classrooms will be ready for occupancy at the start of the 1966-67 academic year. Higgins and Root, Los Gatos architectural firm, is designing the buildings. They will include 12 standard classrooms, 24 x 32 feet, six special classrooms and two rest rooms and storage facilities.

At Council meeting

Traffic signals flare again

Traffic signals, future plans for the expressway, approval of a new subdivision and consideration of the much-maligned proposed service station ordinance are expected to highlight the City Council meeting next Monday, Dec. 13.

How the city should proceed in opposing (or approving) a proposed drive-in theater on the Scorsur property off McGlincey Lane near the freeway will also probably be discussed. The proposed location is in county territory but within Campbell's "sphere." Campbell streets will carry the traffic flow.

The Planning Commission on Monday opposed the location of the theater in that location. A hearing on the issue by the county planning commission will probably be held next month.

The Council is also expected to consider again the past, present and future aspects of traffic signalization on Winchester Blvd., including whether the Budd Ave. or Rincon intersections (or both) should be signalized immediately.

The Council is also expected to discuss what should be included in Phase II on San Tomas Expressway as requested by the county public works director.

Before the Council will be the tentative map of a subdivision planned by Leep Homes off Pollard near the

Four show interest in commission seat

Only four people so far have indicated a desire to serve on the Planning Commission as a replacement for Homer Hyde, recently appointed to the City Council, according to City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan.

When Hyde was appointed councilman to replace Bob McElroy, who resigned because he was moving out of the city, the council announced that the [illegible] selection procedure used in filling the last vacancy on the commission would be followed this time.

Citizens interested in serving on the commission were invited to submit their names to the city clerk. The applicants were then interviewed by a three-man council committee composed of Mayor Charles Rose and Councilmen Ed Rogers and Bill Smeed. The committee then made a recommendation to the entire council.

Tom Perry, a West Valley College instructor with years of previous experience in banking, was appointed from a list of ten applicants to fill the last vacancy, the first time such a method was used in the city's history.

At the recent joint meeting of the commission and council, several planning commissioners suggested that a commissioner sit in on the interviews. The suggestion, however, met with a mixed reaction and no decision was reached on it.

City Clerk Trevethan said that of the four who indicated an interest in serving on the Planning Commission, only one, William Ellis, 370 Calado, a pharmacist, had applied the previous time. She said that the others had not notified her that they were interested this time.

Those submitting their names to date, in addition to Ellis, are Bill Pearson, a realtor; John J. Wilson, 829 Lana Court, a Stanford business administration graduate with PT&T and Olav E. Kulstad, 540 Monica Lane, a sales engineer.

C. of C. elects nine new directors

Nine new directors, representing a cross-section of the business community of Campbell, were elected by the Chamber of Commerce last week to serve for the next two years. They include a doctor, an attorney, three bankers, a newspaper publisher, a phone company executive and two businessmen.

The new directors have been invited to meet with the current board this Wednesday at 3:45 p.m. in the council chambers at the City Hall.

The board next year has been expanded to 15 members, an increase of four over this year. Gene Kelley and Harry Lind, two of the newly-elected group of nine, are presently members of the board.

The nine new directors, who will take office in January, are James S. Baker, attorney: A. S. (Tony) Bonacorso, Bank of America; William (Bill) Brown, Campbell Office Machines; Eugene Kelley, First National Bank; William Kuhlman, M. D.; Harry Lind, First Valley Bank; Meryl MacLean, MacLean's Mens & Boys Wear; Lee Sicard, Pacific Telephone; George Vierhus, editor and publisher, The Campbell Press.

Taxes and assessments

On Friday, Dec. 10, at 5 p.m., the first installment of property taxes becomes delinquent.

We note that Louis A. Lopes, county tax collector, recognizing that taxpayers tend to procrastinate when it comes to shelling out dough for taxes, kept his office open last Saturday to accomodate taxpayers.

But one can delay just so long in the paying of taxes. The tax collector points out that if the taxes are not paid by 5 p.m. Friday, a 6% penalty is automatically charged.

So most of us manage somehow to get our payments in the tax collector's hands under the wire.

This year, we think, because of the bad publicity that has been given certain practices in various assessor's offices in California, the taxpayer is more cognizant than ever of the money that has to be paid on Dec. 10.

Recently the Santa Clara County Taxpayer's Association, a sort of self-appointed watch-dog of the tax system, listed some of the points made by Phil Watson, Los Angeles County Assessor, in a recent speech in which he discussed a number of problems in the field of assessment practices.

The taxpayers' association felt that Watson had touched on some important items in the property tax and assessment picture which is undergoing a revaluation in many areas.

We think they contain considerable food for thought.

"--From 1946 through 1962 the property tax increased from 8.1 per cent to 11.2 per cent of the total federal-state-local revenues.

--The property tax is the only direct tax the average taxpayer still has to pay. It is the only tax left where the taxpayer is given a bill by the government which he pays directly to government.

--This means it is difficult to pay. In our installment-buying society, where one paycheck barely lasts till the next, the lump-sum payment of property taxes is an annual crisis.

--If the taxpayer still had to pay his income tax in a single payment, that outcry would be as loud, if not louder than the chorus of protest when property tax bills arrive. . . And the average employee cannot tell you what his total income tax payment is. He measures his earnings by his take-home pay.

--The property tax has been rising faster than the combined cost of living, income and population growth. . .

--It is an uncertain tax. It can vary from year to year, subject to market value changes.

--It is difficult to fix responsibility for the tax. Five to ten different agencies tax an individual's property. . .

--County gets the blame because the system of assessment and collection is done at the county level. Generally, however, the county itself spends 30 per cent or less of the total revenue collected.

--The taxpayer usually vents his anger on the assessor if the assessed valuation has increased, ignoring the fact that a valid assessment is simply a measure of value and by itself cannot raise taxes.

--There is nothing in the law to compel an assessor to disclose the rules by which he values property which opens the door to the kind of irregularities exposed in the recent assessment scandals.

--Unfortunately local governmental units have come to depend on annual increase in the assessment roll to finance a budget increase with little or no increase in the tax rate. . . But they are not "holding the line on taxes" in the true sense, they are simply obtaining a budget increase through raises in assessments which are often done on a piecemeal basis.

--Many assessors have publicly announced their assessment ratio and tried to apply it uniformly to all types of property. But it is not enough to depend on the goodwill of the individual assessor. Legislation is needed.

--But even if we solve all assessment problems, we will still be plagued with the even more stubborn tax problems inherent in the modern property tax. Based on the increase from 1940 to 1962 in state and local taxes in California, it is possible to project a $22 tax rate in 1980.

--To put it another way, at present rates a homeowner with a 35-year mortgage is going to pay the full price of his house in property taxes in just a few more years than it takes him to pay off the mortgage. . .

--It is generally acknowledged that the property tax falls hardest on those least able to pay. In our credit-financed economy, ownership of property is no measure of ability to pay taxes.

--If we are not to tax away our ability to own property, we must enact an over-all limit on property taxes now."

TRAFFIC SIGNAL locations, by the way, can blow up a storm.

That we have learned during the various discussions over the priorities that should be given the various hot spots in town when it comes to signalization.

Some time ago it was reported that the survey taken by Bill Wren, acting city engineer, showed that the Union Ave.-Campbell Ave. intersection was a worse bottleneck than Winchester-Rincon. This was indicated by a traffic count made at both spots.

IT WAS conceded, however, that Winchester-Rincon was bad and that eventually a syncronized signalization system would have to be installed all along Winchester from Hamilton to Budd.

We have also mentioned before that people are prone to complain about the intersections they traverse regularly, no matter what any traffic count shows.

TAKE US, for example.

We have been held up at the Winchester-Rincon intersection many, many more times than at Union-Campbell. (In fact making a left turn onto Winchester from any spot from Campbell Ave. past Budd is murder at times.)

Some bloke years and years ago mentioned that a picture was worth 10,000 words or so, so we trotted out last week to the Rincon-Winchester with our camera to get a photo of the bottleneck we just knew would be there.

We set up at Bud Tunstall's service station and prepared to shoot.

Listen, kids, we stayed there for a half hour (from 4:30 to 5 p.m.) until it got dark.

And you know something, there was NO bottleneck!

WE SHOT several pictures anyway. But all they showed was traffic apparently moving normally with no back-up to speak of.

It was frustrating.

Bud Tunstall was sympathetic and disappointed. He recalled many instances when the cars had been backed up on Rincon on both sides of Winchester.

We will have to try again. That is, if we are going to prove anything.

Or maybe we will just have to believe Bill Wren's traffic counts after all and let it go at that.

Commission gives okay to plans

Plans for a cabinet shop, a rain shelter and sign got the approval of the Planning Commission Monday but action on plans for automobile repair shop and a cocktail lounge was continued until the next meeting.

The commission also granted approval of rezoning from R-1 (single family) to R-D (duplexes) for property at 1110 Hacienda adjacent to the R-D zoning. The application was submitted by Peggy Holt for Phillip Rose, owner of the property.

Walley Viney was given the okay for his cabinet shop at 655 McGlincey Lane; County Sheet Metal received approval for a rain shelter on the existing structure at 160 N. Harrison and the Ad Art Sign got the ok to place a sign for Wil-Roc Cleaners at 882 Camden.

The application of Conrad Stieber for construction of Mike Murotsune's Car Center at 2250 Winchester was continued until Dec. 20 when a request for variance for the location is also on the agenda.

The application of O. L. and Pete Tunstall for approval of plans for a cocktail lounge at 2240 Winchester at Sunnyside was continued until Dec. 20 in order to allow time to discuss any modification of the submitted plans.

At 12:30 p.m. and again at 8 p.m., on Dec. 13, the West Valley brass ensemble, the string ensemble and the band will perform in a special Christmas concert in the auditorium.

At 12:30 p.m. Dec. 14 in the auditorium and again at 8 p.m., Dec. 15 in the Campbell Methodist Church, the college's concert choir and madrigal singers will offer Christmas Chorales.

The brass and string ensembles, under direction of Cesare Claudio, will play a number of selected Christmas compositions as well as a number of short compositions by such renowned composers as Bach, Greig, Gluck, Mozart and Gabrieli.

The band, under direction of Marvin Scott, will offer Yoder's Drums and Bells and Rossini's William Tell Overture.

The concert choir, under direction of Kenneth W. Jewell, will make its first appearance in newly-purchased choral robes. A varied program of Christmas selections has been planned, including two by Jewell. Three student flutists, Sheri Crawford, Elayne Moore and Laura Oberhaus, will be heard in compositions by Bach and Beethoven.

The public is invited to all concerts without charge.

Strong Paint sold this week

Strong Paint Co., 46 E. Campbell Ave., was sold this week to Don B. Westbrook and Philip J. Cardoza of San Jose. The new owners are taking over operation of the paint store immediately. According to Douglas Strong, one of the partners in the business, the Strong family will continue in the painting contracting business in Campbell and will retain the firm name.

Strong Paint Co. was founded nearly 20 years ago by the late Benjamin Strong of Campbell and has continued to operate under the direction of his three sons, Raymond, Kenneth and Douglas Strong.

Rolling Hills School adjacent to the San Tomas Creek that separates Campbell from Saratoga.

At the commission meeting were a number of residents of Saratoga. They objected vigorously to the change of zone (also approved) for the area which would allow smaller lots than those in Saratoga across the creek.

They also wanted the subdivider to preserve the trees now in the area. The commission approval, which goes to the council Monday included the condition that the trees be preserved wherever practical.

The so-called new service station ordinance which also regulates all outdoor business activities will be up for council perusal Monday for the second time. It had been sent back to the Planning Commission for restudy.

The commission on Monday approved the elimination of an offending clause specifying the number of employees and sent it back to the council.

Basically the new ordinance limits outdoor business activities to intersections of two four-lane roads or to shopping centers.

Four injured in rear-end accident

Four persons were injured in a chain-reaction rear end accident at the intersection of Hamilton and Winchester Blvd, Sunday afternoon, Dec. 5. As a result, Donald G. Dancer, 20, a self-employed gardener of 913 Mariposa St., San Jose, is under investigation for being drunk in public.

According to the Campbell Police Department, three cars proceeding west on Hamilton Avenue were stopped at the signal light when a fourth vehicle, a Dodge pick-up truck driven by Dancer rammed into them causing a chain reaction. Most seriously injured was Barbara Anne Walter, 231 Ken Circle, Campbell, who was driving a MG convertible sports car, which was rammed from both front and rear. She is in Campbell Community Hospital.

Also taken to the hospital was Mrs. Guy E. Poorman, a passenger in the car of her husband, Guy E. Poorman, 5317 Lassen Ave., San Jose; Lois Jean Yorke, 1323 Bernal Ave., Burlingame, and Joseph Valdez, 842 Pacific Ave., San Jose.

Cycle safety classes offered

A class in motorcycle safety will be offered by the Campbell Police Department after the first of the year. Exact date and time for the classes has not been selected, but will depend on the number of "sign-ups" for the class. Chief of Police John Morgan stated that many youngsters will receive motorcycles as Christmas gifts this year, and could benefit greatly from the "safety tips" to be offered at these classes. Coupon books not honored

Purchasers of coupon books for $3.00 from Betty's Beauty Bar, 1771 Winchester Blvd., in the Campbell Shopping Center, have complained to the Campbell Police Department that the booklets are not being honored.

The beauty shop has been closed for the past month and the proprietor, Betty Leonard, is apparently out of the state. According to the Campbell Police Department the beauty shop is in the process of being sold.

Carol Borghini is bride of Richard A. Cristina

Queen of Apostles Church was the setting for the marriage of Miss Carol Ann Borghini and Richard Anthony Cristina recently. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Borghini of 4829 Clarendon Drive and a graduate of Campbell High School and San Jose City College. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Cristina of San Jose.

For her wedding day, the attractive burnette bride chose a gown of silk and wool Alhouette fashioned with an empire waistline. The A-line skirt was embroidered at the hem with three bands of French lace and seed pearls. Her floor length veil was secured by a pillbox covered with matching Alhouette and French lace.

Mrs. Barry Cristina, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, served as honor attendant. Other bridal attendants were Mrs. John Kirk, and the Misses Barbara Seely, Judith Buchanan and Sherri Ritsch. Tracey Mills was the flower girl.

A reception in the San Jose Elks Club followed the afternoon ceremony. The newlyweds honeymooned in Las Vegas, Nevada, Palm Springs and Los Angeles before establishing a home in Cupertino.

Gifts for the youngsters have been purchased and they will be gift wrapped at the home of Mrs. Eric Schramm on Monday, Dec. 13. Those who are working on the committee for the party are Mesdames James Gillespie, James Hamilton and Eric Schramm.

Retired salesman enjoys oil painting as hobby

Retirement has given Henry G. Blohm, 1795 Regina Way, Campbell, a chance to spend more time on his favorite hobby, painting. A former automobile salesman, Blohm has been interested in art ever since he found a box of watercolors when he was a youngster.

Blohm recently donated one of his paintings to the Campbell Garden Club. The painting, a beautiful landscape, was won by Edmond Stoll, a local insurance agent in the Hamilton Avenue Beautification Project raffle.

A realist painter, Blohm prefers marines and landscapes to subjects. He also uses a three dimensional-camera with which to retain a scene for future reference. Although he has sold a number of his paintings, he prefers to paint for pleasure. He has set up his easel in his garage where he spends several hours a day, weather permitting. Although he has had no formal training, he has learned "by doing," Blohm explained. He uses rich, vibrant colors, and strong brush strokes.

GUITARISTS

The full-length film is a poignant portrayal of a man and his son as they search the streets of Rome for the man's stolen bicycle, a bicycle desperately needed by the father to hold an also desperately-needed job.

"The Bicycle Thief" has won a number of major film awards

Garden Club

The Campbell Garden Club is holding their annual Christmas tea today at 1 p.m. at the Campbell Congregational Church, 400 W. Campbell Ave. Program speaker will be Mrs. A. F. Lean. President, Mrs. Minnie Snyder will preside over the business session.

On Thanksgiving morning, Campbell's cheerleaders and song girls were invited to a breakfast at Los Gatos Lodge by the Los Gatos cheerleaders and song girls. It is traditional that the school hosting the game invite the opposing team's girls out for breakfast.

"The Twelve Days of Christmas" is the theme for the Sun Gallery at this time. A contest has been planned that involves all of the art department. The contest is the rendering of one or more of the twelve days in the most interesting way using the most original medias within reason. The only size limit is that the panels must be no larger than those now occupying the gallery.

The first day of Christmas will not be needed in the competition because it will be designed by a volunteer as the centerpiece for the gallery. All sketches should be turned into Miss Susan Sleek or Dell Quinn.

On Nov. 20, a Speech and Debate tournament was held at Homestead High School. Campbell came home proudly with 13 awards.

Walt Ritter and Angel Grindon received first place trophies in Boys and Girls Impromptu.

The remainder of the awards were given to Leger Grindon, fourth place, Boys Impromptu; Peg Hebard, fifth place, Original Orator; Greg Lin, fifth place, Boys Unlimited; Jim Chamberlin and Lindsay Johnston, fifth place, Boys Oral Interpretation; Derek Woodhouse, fourth place, Boys Oral Interpretation; Jim Oates, third place, Oral Interpretation; Angel Grindon, fifth place, Girls Extemporaneous; Dianne Rawlinson, third place, Girls Extemporaneous; Greg Hegstrom, fourth place, Boys Extemporaneous; and Wes Clark, fifth place, Boys Extemporaneous.

Marie Brown has been named "Co-Ed" correspondent for the 1965-66 school year, according to an announcement by Miss Margaret Hauser, editor of Co-Ed Magazine. Marie is a freshman at Campbell and was appointed by the home economics department.

Selected for her leadership qualities and her enthusiasm for home economics Marie will serve as junior advisor to the editors of Co-Ed National Magazine for teenage girls published by Scholastic Magazines Inc. She will keep them informed of activities at Campbell. More than 4,000 correspondents throughout the United States and Canada report regularly.

WARRIOR WAYS

BY

WYCKOFF

The Queen and her attendants were given inscribed necklaces, and Ingrid was presented with a dozen long stemmed red roses by Art Tracy, Block president.

On Wednesday, Dec. 8 Westmont will hold its first Student Government Day combined with an all school Dress-Up Day. On this day each member of the Student Council is assigned to a certain member of the administrative staff. This is done to give the council members a first-hand idea of how a school is actually run.

Bob Gunter, a Junior here at Westmont, has been chosen as the drummer for the Santa Clara County Honor Stage Band under the baton of Mr. Modesto Briseno.

WARRIOR
OF THE WEEK
CHUCK EADES

Chuck Eades is a junior at Westmont and a member of the Varsity Basketball Team. Golf is also a major interest of Chuck's, but his great talent as an artist is what he is best known for around Westmont.

Rembrandt is Chuck's favorite artist, but he also admires Georgy Innes. Conservative Art is Chuck's specialty. About Modern Art he venomously retorts, "I don't like it!"

As a member of both the Art Commission and Art Honorary Chuck keeps busy with his art work around school. Off campus he seems to be selling quite a few of his things without even trying.

Mrs. Karen Parsagian, who is Chuck's art teacher here at Westmont says this about Chuck. "Chuck Eades shows a remarkable ability in drawing and painting. Along with this he seems to be developing a flexibility in style which will make him an excellent candidate for an art career."

Born in San Jose, Chuck has lived in the same area all of his life. He has two brothers, one that is six, and an older one, Paul who is a graduate of Campbell High and now in the United States Army in South Korea.

Del Mar's Choir will participate in the Annual Music Festival. The festival will be held at the San Jose Civic Auditorium on Friday, Dec. 10.

On Dec. 1, Del Mar's sports department held its annual fall Sports Banquet, held for the participants in the fall sports. This was for the five sports that went on during the first quarter of the school year. They are: varsity football, frosh-soph football, cross country, J. V. football, and C and D basketball.

The speaker for the evening was the head football coach, Harry Anderson, of San Jose State.

Del Mar graduates of 1965, Joanne Carroll and Gary Gibbs, and seniors Erica Helstrom and Terry Wyckoff, from Mrs. Murle Birk Woodward's English classes received national honors for placing in the Educational ABC's of American Industry project and essay competition for the school year 1964-65.

This is the second year Del Mar High School has placed in this national writing competition. Erica Helstrom did her essay project on the project peanut butter and Terry Wyckoff did her project on tea. Del Mar High School was the only school in the Santa Clara County to win in the Educational ABC's of American Industry project and essay competition.

Senior spirit is being boosted by a committee of six seniors, and all who are interested, to promote good spirit, get points for the spirit trophy, and make the rallys fun and original. Regular members of this committee are Kent Vincent, president; Sheila Alvares, secretary; Kathie Anderson, Scott Martin, Scott Gritton and Bruce Nachitgall.

Members were chosen by the Senior Cabinet, with the exception of two, who were chosen from both the Senior Girls and Senior Boys Service Clubs.

The annual Betty Crocker Search for the Homemaker for Tomorrow test was given on Dec. 8, instead of Dec. 1, as I stated in last weeks column. Winners will be awarded as follows:

1) Homemaker winner for each school will receive an award pin. 2) Homemaker winner for each state will receive a $1,500 scholarship. 3) Homemaker winner for the entire country will win a $5,000 scholarship. 4) The school of the state winner will receive a complete set of the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Younglife held its first camp weekend of the year during Thanksgiving vacation. Three girls and three boys from Del Mar's campaigners groups were selected to be on work crew for this trip.

Leigh's music dept. has busy schedule

Leigh High School's music department is "doing it big" for Christmas this year. On Tuesday, Dec. 14, its members will sing at three assemblies for the student body. That evening they will perform for the Lions Club at the Golden Doors Restaurant.

The next day, Wednesday, Dec. 15, they will present their annual Christmas concert in the auditorium at 8 p. m. Admission will be free. Concluding the department's Christmas activities, the choir will carol around the school on Friday, Dec. 17.

BLACKFORD BEAT

BY DIANE GIPSON CAROL COOK

"... Forever we'll be loyal to you, forever Blackford High."

These final words to Blackford's hymn certainly express the spirit at Blackford. Although our varsity team came through the season without winning a single game, having lost our final game on Tuesday, Dec. 1 to Los Gatos with a score of 33-7, the spirit at Blackford has not for one minute decreased in any way.

With the basketball season already underway every Brave looks forward to having our last year's undefeated varsity team on the courts again. Dennis Awtrey our 6' 9" champion of the basketball courts will be returning this year along with the other basketball-bouncing Braves for what we hope will be another great year for our school.

Our first game was played Saturday night at Blackford against the Bellermine varsity and Frosh-Soph teams.

The Senior production of "Harvey" was presented on Thursday and Friday, Dec. 2, 3. The play, starring Bob Pruitt as Elwood P. Dowd, was a tremendous success. We would like to congratulate all the players. They were just terrific!

The annual Christmas dance will be held Dec. 10, in the Blackford cafetorium at 8:30 p.m. There will be no charge for this dance, and anyone who had been signed up will be admitted. The Jaguars of local fame will provide the music. Girls should remember that the dress is semi-formal.

Helene Zimnicki, a senior, and also a song-girl, was recently honored by being chosen as the outstanding student to represent Blackford at a luncheon in honor of Youth Appreciation Week.

The Governor's Conference on Youth was held Nov. 11-13. Blackford was represented by Selene Seltzer Sharon Werstier, Rose Forti, and Mahlian Carmichael. The conference's purpose was to achieve a greater understanding between teens and adults. Among the guest speakers were Governor Edmond P. Brown, Judge Emmit Daly, and Dr. Harold Taylor.

In closing the column for this week, we would like to ask everyone to attend the game at Los Gatos on Dec. 10, and remember to wear white and support the BRAVES!

College starts memorial fund to honor child

A $300 cash gift has been contributed by a West Valley College instructor to start a memorial fund honoring the deceased daughter of another West Valley instructor.

Jerry H. Girdner, dean of student personnel services and chairman of the college's scholarship committee, said the donor made the contribution "to start the ball rolling" but wishes to remain anonymous. The fund, Girdner said, will honor the memory of six-year-old Yvonne Bidwell, whose father, Roy N. Bidwell, teaches biology in extended day classes at the college and in daytime classes at Leigh High School.

Only stipulation of the contribution, Girdner said, is that at least $100 of the fund will be used for a one-year scholarship (all books and fees) for a female graduate of Leigh High School now attending West Valley.

Girdner said that a number of persons, hearing of the anonymous contribution, have also asked to contribute to the fund. They may be mailed to the West Valley College Scholarship Committee, 51 E. Campbell Ave., Campbell, Girdner said. Additional information about the memorial fund may be obtained by calling Dean Girdner at 379-1733.

Dec. 13 is last day for new phone listings

If you're thinking of changing your listing in the Campbell, San Martin, and Saratoga telephone book, now's the time to do it.

G. Lee Sicard, Pacific Telephone's manager in Campbell, said the book, which also lists numbers for San Jose, Santa Clara, Cupertino, Los Gatos, and Milpitas, will be ready for printing Dec. 13 and no changes can be made after that date.

To change your present listing or add a private listing for another member of the family, call your PT&T business office before Dec. 13.

"It's important that changes by made early enough to assure checking for accuracy and allow time for the necessary clerical work," Sicard said.

Fire chief warns residents to use care with heaters

Fire Chief Maxwell this week urged local residents to handle space heaters with care with the approach of what looks like a long, cold winter.

During summer obsolete, unvented space heaters were found in numerous Campbell homes, he pointed out.

"An unvented heater is any heater that lacks a vent system to carry combustion products out of the house", Chief Maxwell explained.

A major fault of these unvented heaters is the possible formation of carbon monoxide - especially if the heater is not functioning properly - which can be dangerous in a tightly shut room, he added.

"Some of the older heaters where the flame is not fully shielded also present a fire hazard," he warned. "To eliminate such hazards, all of these obsolete heaters should be replaced with modern, vented heating equipment."

Fire Chief Maxwell pointed out that there's no danger in using approved gas heaters, which now provide winter comfort in the vast majority of Campbell homes.

Until individual owners have time to complete the replacement of obsolete equipment, the fire chief urged the following precautions:

1. Place heaters away from drapes and out of busy traffic areas, if there are small children in the house, shield the heater with a fire screen.

2. Use only approved metal connectors: rubber hoses are unsafe and illegal.

3. Always leave one or more windows open to provide adequate ventilation when unvented heaters are in use.

4. Don't sleep in a room with an unvented heater in operation.

5. Have heaters inspected now by a qualified service agency or the gas company to minimize the hazard of the unvented heater.

"Fortunately, we've been able to reduce substantially the number of unvented and faulty heaters through a continuing program of public warnings and on-the-spot inspections," the chief said.

According to Maxwell, largely through the cooperative efforts of city and county officials and the local gas utilities company, unvented heater accidents have been practically eliminated.

War on Poverty hits snag in West Valley areas

A new citizen's committee has been formed in the West Valley area called "Citizens Concerned for Area Six", to implement the War on Poverty in this area.

According to Ernest Martinez, 1363 Suzanne Dr., co-chairman, the group has petitioned the County Economic Commission for formal recognition as an interim committee empowered to establish a permanent Advisory Committee for the proposed Area Six EOC Service Center. Area Six comprises Campbell, Cupertino, Los Gatos, Monte Sereno, Saratoga, and adjoining parts of San Jose.

The committee is circulating a petition calling for annulment of an election held Nov. 22 by another committee. A detailed list of grievances was sent to Sargent Shriver, head of the EOC in Washington, D.C. The grievances list inadequate and misleading publicity about the meeting of Nov. 22, objections to procedures followed during the meeting, and objection to the election of a Board without adequate representation from community organizations, low income families or agencies serving the impoverished.

Charles O'Neil, executive director of the Ming Quong Home in Los Gatos, has been delegated by the committee to contact all agencies now serving low income residents of Area Six, to designate nine representatives of a proposed 27 member board, in accordance with the directive of the Economic Opportunity Commission.

ON CAPITOL HILL

"Charlie" Gubser

With so much attention focussed upon the right-wing variety, the left-wing extremist has enjoyed almost complete immunity from criticism. Nevertheless, his work has gone steadily forward.

It is the left-wing extremist who automatically assumes that a U.S. position in international affairs is automatically imperialist and automatically wrong. Unfortunately, he exerts a telling effect upon U.S. policy.

In the war in Vietnam, civilians are often forced to hide with the Viet Cong in highly developed underground fortifications woven into the earth through a maze of tunnels. U.S. Marines must clear these fortifications of Viet Cong, but for a long time were denied the chance to use harmless tear gas, as any police force does.

Instead, they were forced to risk their own lives to toss grenades and spray small arms fire which killed both Viet Cong and innocent civilians. This unnecessary loss of life was the direct result of outcries by U.S. extremists who protested the use of "gas" in Vietnam.

When the Republic of Panama burned U.S. Flags and renounced its treaty with the United States, it was our own extremists who assumed U.S. blame. They have agitated steadily and have apparently now achieved a concession to Panama.

This year the House passed a resolution restating the terms of the Inter-American Treaty of Reciprocal Assistance. This treaty, signed originally by most Latin American countries, restated the intention of the American republics to use armed force to protect any nation from domination by international communism. Immediately extremists in our own country labeled it as an expression favoring the principle of "unilateral military intervention".

They fanned resentment in the South American press and called it "unwarranted interference" by the U.S. Congress. They claimed such matters were outside the jurisdiction and competence of the House of Representatives, and that the resolution served no purpose in the absence of a specific crisis.

These persons, who are the first to plead for greater foreign aid and a larger Alliance for Progress, neglected to mention that it is the House of Representatives which must initiate authorization and the appropriation of funds which make the "Alliance" possible. They also neglected to mention there is a continuing crisis from subversives trained in Cuba who agitate for Communism over all Latin America.

From all reports to which I have access concerning Latin America, I find no country has been offended to the point where it will refuse Alliance for Progress funds. Nor did the House-passed resolution dampen the ardor with which most South American countries pleaded for lucrative preferential U.S. sugar quotas a few weeks ago.

In the final analysis there is much doubt that the resolution did harm relations with our friends to the South. Were it not for the U.S. extremist it might not have been noticed.
